

Tourism (WJEC Applied Diploma)

Why Study Tourism?

This is a Level 3 qualification (on a par with A-Levels) and accepted equally by universities and employers.

If you are good at coursework (and not so good at exams) this is the course for you—50% of it is coursework assessed.

At the end of Year 12 you will have a Level 3 Certificate and, at the end of Year 13, you will have a Level 3 Diploma in Tourism.

This qualification is both academic and practical and so prepares students for further education and employment. The applied approach to teaching will give students real-world skills and knowledge valued by employers. Students who are good at coursework can really boost their grades with 50% of both the Certificate and the Diploma being coursework assessed.

This course fits well with Double Applied Business and Double Health and Social Care, but also with Geography, Sociology, Psychology and other more 'traditional' A-Level subjects.

Year 12 Content

In Year 12 you will study one long-haul and one short-haul destination investigating opportunities for further development, threats, challenges and sustainability (coursework assessed)

You will then analyse the tourism industry in the UK— its appeal, how it is marketed, how destinations are managed, customer demographics, employment and planning (all exam assessed).

Year 13 Content

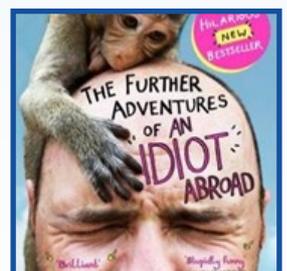

In Year 13 the group will make all the travel arrangements for a tour; in doing this students will learn about budgets and finances, promotion and marketing, legal requirements and logistics—they also go somewhere really interesting! (coursework assessed).

For their final exam (25% of their overall mark) students will learn about external and environmental pressures on tourism, the management of iconic attractions and access to sensitive destinations in addition to crisis management (exam assessed).
