Task

You must complete the three set tasks outlined on page two of the Criminology booklet. Make sure to read the instructions carefully first before undertaking each task.

It might be a good idea to complete your three tasks on separate days as you will need to read a variety of articles for the first two tasks.

The more reading and notes you make in preparation, the easier you will find writing controlled assessment in September!

In Criminology, throughout the two years, you will also have to do a lot of reading of articles, so this is to help you develop this skill!

How will this work be used in lessons?

This reading task is directly linked to the learning objectives that you will need to meet for the controlled assessment element of Criminology. The tasks are designed to give you a good overview of key crimes and campaigns that you need to know and understand for Unit 1, which you will start in September. The tasks are also designed to get you to engage with real life crime and events, the comprehension questions will enable you to reflect on what you've read and consider what happens as a result.

How long will this task take?

4 hours
